

Investment Objective

The objective of the fund is to create long-term wealth for investors by extracting alpha from equity markets.

Fund Profile

The portfolio is managed as a long/short hedge fund, focused on extracting beta and alpha returns from the South African equity market. The funds returns are delivered through fundamental knowledge of South African equities vis-à-vis economic growth and broad economic themes as well as medium to long -term relative valuation opportunities, generating the largest portion of its returns through its directional bias. Relative value pairs, together with absolute longs and shorts seek to stabilize returns in turbulent market conditions, supported by the adjustment to the net exposure.

Market Commentary

Global markets were broadly flat in November as renewed concerns about stretched technology valuations, shifting expectations for central-bank policy, and weaker global growth data dampened risk appetite. Equity returns were modest, with the MSCI World Index rising 0.3%, while in the US, the S&P 500 added 0.3% and the Nasdaq fell 1.6%. Europe delivered mixed to slightly negative returns, while China saw a 2.4% decline.

US markets were marked by sharp swings as investors oscillated between fears of an AI valuation bubble and optimism around a potentially more dovish Federal Reserve. A 43-day government shutdown delayed key economic data releases, contributing to spikes in volatility early in the month. Inflation indicators showed pockets of firming while labour-market readings softened, complicating the policy outlook but ultimately boosting expectations for a December rate cut as more dovish Fed commentary emerged.

Chinese equities continued to struggle as weak domestic demand, soft PMI readings and renewed property-sector stress weighed on sentiment. Manufacturing activity remained below 50, services activity slipped to a three-year low, and retail sales slowed to 2.9%, underscoring the fragility of the recovery.

Commodities reflected the divergence in global economic conditions. Precious metals were the standout, supported by safe-haven demand, dollar weakness and continued central-bank buying, with gold rising close to 6% and silver 17%. Copper gained around 3% as supply disruptions and electrification-linked demand tightened the market. Oil prices declined about 3% despite producer attempts to pause output increases.

South African markets were buoyed by an improving domestic backdrop and more constructive global conditions. The SARB resumed its easing cycle with a 25-basis-point cut to 6.75% and National Treasury finalised the shift to the 3% inflation target, both of which improved the medium-term policy outlook. S&P upgraded South Africa's sovereign rating to BB with a positive outlook, building on the momentum from the country's removal from the FATF grey list a month earlier. On the downside, US-South Africa relations deteriorated sharply during the G20, with President Trump withdrawing the US delegation and urging against resolutions without US participation.

The ALBI rose 3.4% in Rand terms in November, outperforming Top 40 (+2.3%), while R214 yields fell by 51 bps to 9.27%, its lowest monthly close since 2018 while the Rand strengthened by 1.3% to R17.11/US dollar. Resources (+9.6%) outperformed this month, well ahead of financials (+1.8%), while industrials lagged (-4.8%). Key sector leaders were Precious Metals (+13.0%) and Tobacco (+12.0%), while laggards included Mobile Telecom (-7.1%) Tech (-11.6%). The Silver Oak fund underperformed its Capped SWIX by 1% during November.
