Fund Objective

To provide a total return, before costs and tax, higher than the Bloomberg NZ Bond Composite 0+ Yr Index over the long term (3 years plus).

Fund Update

The Fund performed in line with its benchmark in May; though absolute returns were slightly negative. A modest underweight exposure to supranational bonds detracted from returns over the period. This included underweights to Asian Development Bank and International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. Supranational bonds narrowly outperformed corporate bonds in May. In contrast, the Fund benefited from an overweight exposure to the front end of the New Zealand government bond yield curve.
