

FundRock will be attending HKIFA 12th Annual Conference next week. The event aims to provide a platform for market participants, regulators, distributors and stakeholders to network and parse out issues pertinent to the industry. The focus will be on the future of asset management, with particular emphasis on how to further provide value for money to investors. Industry experts will discuss the latest regulatory environment in Hong Kong and the Mainland, the role of asset managers as fiduciaries and how can asset managers better cater for their investors' needs.

Find out more about this conference here.